Plaintiff, a detainee at Georgetown County Detention Center, files this case pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff complains that he has lost his canteen privileges, that he is not allowed the full amount of recreation time to which he believes he is entitled, and that the emergency call button in his cell is broken. This case is subject to summary dismissal for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1).

Pro Se and In Forma Pauperis Review

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se complaint pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915; 28 U.S.C. § 1915A; and the Prison Litigation Reform Act, Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996). This review has been conducted in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995) (en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983).

The complaint herein has been filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915, which permits an indigent litigant to commence an action in federal court without prepaying the administrative costs of proceeding with the lawsuit. To protect against possible abuses of this privilege, the statute allows a district court to dismiss the case upon a finding that the action “fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted” or is “frivolous or malicious.” § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i), (ii). A finding of frivolity can be made where the complaint “lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact.” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. at 31 (1992). Hence, under § 1915(e)(2)(B), a claim based on a meritless legal theory may be dismissed sua sponte. Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. at 319; Allison v. Kyle, 66 F.3d 71 (5th Cir. 1995).

Plaintiff is a pro se litigant, and thus his pleadings are accorded liberal construction. Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 5 (1980); Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97 (1976); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. at 519; Loe v. Armistead, 582 F. 2d 1291 (4th Cir. 1978); Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F. 2d 1147 (4th 1978). Pro se pleadings are held to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys. Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. at 5. Even under this less stringent standard, however, the pro se complaint is still subject to summary dismissal. The requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 901 F. 2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990).

Discussion

Section 1983 “ ‘is not itself a source of substantive rights,’ but merely provides ‘a method for vindicating federal rights elsewhere conferred.’” Albright v. Oliver, 510 U.S. 266, 271 (1994)(quoting Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137 (1979)). A civil action under § 1983 allows “a party who has been deprived of a federal right under the color of state law to seek relief.” City of Monterey v. Del Monte Dunes at Monterey, Ltd., 526 U.S. 687, 707 (1999).

To state a claim under § 1983, a plaintiff must allege two essential elements: (1) that a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States was violated, and (2) that the alleged violation was committed by a person acting under the color of state law. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48 (1988). Plaintiff has not sufficiently pled either element.

Plaintiff complains that his canteen and recreation privileges have been removed or curtailed; neither allegation implicates constitutional rights. Canteen access is not a protected liberty interest. See e.g. Madison v. Parker, 104 F.3d 765, 768 (5th Cir.1997) (holding that commissary restrictions did not entitle inmate to due process protections during disciplinary proceeding). In some situations, denial of out-of-cell exercise for an extended period will violate the Eighth Amendment's strictures against cruel and unusual punishment. See Mitchell v. Rice, 954 F.2d 187, 190 (4th Cir. 1992). However, nothing close to such a deprivation has been pled here; rather, Plaintiff merely says "[b]eing that I'm Permanent in this unit I'm entitled to 4 hours of recreation including 1 hour of outside recreation 7 days a week." Complaint at 3. He does not complain that he is not getting any recreation, nor does he complain that he is not allowed out of his cell for recreation. He simply alleges that he is not getting the amount to which he believes he is entitled. Therefore, he has failed to state a claim for cruel and unusual punishment.

Plaintiff also alleges that the emergency call button in his cell has been out of order for eight (8) months. He states that this problem needs to be fixed in light of his health problems (asthma and bronchitis). However, he makes no allegation that the defendants are aware that there is a problem with the call button, much less that they have refused to fix it. Because there are no specific factual allegations against the named defendants, this claim also fails.

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the District Judge dismiss the complaint in the above-captioned case without prejudice and without issuance and service of process. See United Mine Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715 (1966). See also Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972). Plaintiff's attention is directed to the important notice on the next page.
